India looking for right balance

Skipper Rohit Sharma's challenge will be to figure out an ideal playing XI

DEPTH IN THE batting and six bowling options in the eleven will be India's formula at the home World Cup, where they look to end their ICC title drought. What it meant was that they could not draft an off-spinner or a right-arm twerker into the 15-member squad announced by the chairman of national selection committee Ajit Agarkar. With concerns over the fitness of their pacers, they had to pick four apart from Hardik Pandya for the tournament that begins on October 5.

The squad was expected to remain more or less the same as one picked for the Asia Cup, though. Rohit Sharma and Agarwal had said there was still scope for a few changes, triggering speculation of surprise moves. But all that was put to the bin on Tuesday. From the team that is currently featuring in Asia Cup, the selectors have omitted Prasadh Krishna, Tilak Varma and Sanju Samson. It is understood that the three will remain as reserves along with R Ashwin, who will be a cover for the three spinners - Ravindra Jadeja, Axar Patel and Kuldeep Yadav. The two-time ODI world champions, though, could make changes to the squad till September 27.

Biggest challenge

With KL Rahul clearing the fitness test over the weekend at the National Cricket Academy, there was no scope for last-minute surprises like it has been the case with India's World Cup-bound squads over the last four years. The 15-member squad includes five batsmen, two wicketkeepers, one all-rounder, four pacers and three spinners (two of them all-rounders), and has the right balance. Eleven can bat, eight could bowl.

But the biggest challenge for captain Rohit and the team-management will be to find the same balance in the playing eleven. With their top five being one-dimensional and all four fast bowlers mostly being No 10 and 11s (apart from Shardul Thakur occasionally), Rohit admitted that his team will have to strike a compromise on fielding the best attack at times.

"You need both bowling depth and batting depth. We need to create that depth and we found that it was lacking in our team for the last few years. When we talk about depth in batting, that No. 9, No. 8 positions become crucial. In the first game here we saw that we fell short in the backend. We want tail-enders to contribute too. Another 10-15 runs in that game would have made a difference," he said.

In the ongoing Asia Cup,

India showed enough evidence of it, where they included Shardul Thakur ahead of Mohammed Shami in their opening fixture against Pakistan. By all looks of it, this is set to continue as the World Cup is slow, even if it means India may have to bench a bowler who is capable of finishing his career at 10 overs in favour of Thakur, the most expensive among the five, and has an economy rate of 6.17 in ODIs.

Fix or break?

"When you're trying to fix something, you might end up breaking it," Rohit said of India's pace pack. "You have to be mindful of what you're doing in trying to use resources as best as you can. When you have six bowlers, they might miss out on some overs. You have to see what suits the bowlers, and what situation the game is in. Even the spinners may not be able to complete their quota. This is the best we can do with bal-where you play nine league games, semis and finals, that is 11 games. We played that format in the World Cup in 2019, and there's always a chance for you to make a comeback. We saw last time around, how England made a comeback to the semis and the finals after losing their way early. It gives you more time to think about strategy and what you're going to execute as a team. T20 format is different where you have less time. We had to beat Pakistan and SA to qualify for the semifinals. Here, even if you don't start well, you have the time to make a comeback. It does give you a little more breathing space," Rohit said.

Having found the balance, the only hole is the absence of an off-spinner, a regular in the last two World Cup at home. In 2011, India had both RAshwin and Harbhajan Singh, apart from part-timers Sachin Tendulkar and Suresh Raina. But India never had at least one spinner who bowls right-handed—leg-spinner Ixman

THE TELECOM REGULATORY Authority of India (TRAI) on Tuesday said private FM radio operators be allowed to broadcast independent news and current affairs programmes.

Issuing recommendations for FM radio broadcasting, the regulator said this should be limited to 10 minutes per hour. It also said the programme code of conduct applicable to All India Radio should be extended to private FM stations.

Broadcasting independent news content has been a longstanding demand of the FM industry. Private operators at present have the permission to broadcast All India Radio's news bulletins without alterations. They are also allowed to share information on local events and issues such as traffic, utility services, and examinations.

"By extending the scope of news and current affairs programming on private FM radio, the Authority aims to facilitate a comprehensive flow of information and promote the democratisation of media access. It recognises the potential of FM radio to bridge the information gap, particularly in rural areas," Trai said.

The regulator also recommended that the annual licence fee should be de-linked from non-refundable one-time entry fee (NOTEE)

"The licence fee should be calculated as 4% of the gross revenue of the FM radio channel during the respective financial year. GST should be excluded from gross revenue," it said.

Operators are currently required to pay an annual licence fee at 4% of the gross revenue of its FM radio channel for the financial year or 2.5% of NOTEF for the concerned city, whichever is higher.

The regulator also said that functions or features pertaining to FM radio should remain enabled and activated on all mobile handsets having the necessary hardware. "Built-in FM radio receiver in mobile handset must not be subjected to any form of disablement or deactivation"

Duty of teachers, parents to help children develop abilities: President

IT IS THE duty of teachers as well as parents to recognise the unique abilities of children and help them develop those abilities with sensitivity, President Droupadi Murmu said on Tuesday.

The president made the comments at the National Teachers' Awards function, where 74 teachers were honoured.

"It is the duty of the teachers as well as the parents to recognise the unique abilities of each child and help the child to develop those abilities with sensitivity," Murmu said. —PTI
